Glo. Then be it ſo: and go we to determine
Who they ſhall be that ſtraight ſhall poſt to Ludlow,
Madame, and you my mother, will you go,
To giue your cenſures in this waightie buſineſſe.
Anſ. With all our hearts Exeunt. manet Glo. Buck.
Buck. My Lord, who euer iourneyes to the Prince)
For Gods ſake let not vs two be behinde:
For by the way Ile ſort occaſion,
As index to the ſtorie we lately talkt off,
To part the Queenes proude kindred from the King.
Glo. My other ſelfe, my counſels conſiſtorie,
My Oracle, my Prophet, my deare Coſen:
I like a childe will go by thy direction:
Towards Ludlow then, for we will not ſtay behinde. Exit.

Enter two Citizens.

1 Cit. Neighbour well met, whither away ſo faſt?
2 Cit. I promiſe you, I ſcarcely know my ſelfe.
1 Heare you the newes abroad?
2 I that the King is dead.
1 Bad newes birlady, ſeldome comes the better,
I feare, I feare, twill prooue a troubleſome world. Enter another Cit.
3 Cit. Good morrow neighbours.
Doth this newes hold of good Kings Edwards death?
1 It doth. 3. Then maiſters looke to ſee a troublous world
1 No, no, by Gods grace his ſonne ſhall raigne.
3 Wo to that land thats gouernd by a childe.
2 In him there is a hope of gouernment,
That in his nonage, counſell vnder him,
And in his full and ripened yeeres himſelfe,
No doubt ſhall then, and till then gouerne well.
1 So ſtood the ſtate when Harry the ſixt
Was crownd at Paris, but at nine moneths olde.
3 Stood the ſtate ſo? no good my friend not ſo,
For then this land was famouſly enricht
With politike graue counſell: then the King
Had vertuous Vncles to protect his Grace.
2 So hath this, both by the father and mother.
3 Better it were they all came by the father,
Or by the father there were none at all:
